(U) At least 481 people have been infected and 17 have died of hepatitis A since November in San Diego as a result of what is now one of the largest outbreaks the country has seen in decades. Another 88 cases have been identified in Santa Cruz and Los Angeles counties, where hepatitis A outbreaks have been declared. San Diego County has spent nearly $3 million on containing the outbreak, according to data released yesterday, and that total could double by 2018.

(U) Nevada – Las Vegas Gunman Shot Security Guard Before Shooting into Crowd

(U) Las Vegas – The gunman who last week killed 58 people at a Las Vegas concert shot a hotel security guard minutes before opening fire onto the crowd, authorities said yesterday, shifting officials' timeline of the slayings. The guard, Jesus Campos, was shot six minutes prior to gunman Stephen Paddock opening fire onto a crowd of thousands at a country-western concert on 1 October. Campos was investigating an open-door alarm on the 32nd floor of the hotel when he was wounded by the gunman at 9:59 p.m. local time, just before the shooting spree began at around 10:05 p.m. Nearly 500 people were wounded in the mass shooting.

(U) South Korea – North Korea Hacked Allied War Plans

(U) Seoul – A trove of classified military documents, including the joint South Korea-US wartime operational plans for conflict with Pyongyang, were stolen by North Korean hackers, a lawmaker in Seoul said. Lee Cheol-hee, a member of the ruling Democratic party, said hackers had broken into a defense data center in September 2016. He said stolen documents included Operational Plans 5015 — the most recent allied blueprint for war with North Korea. The plans also include detailed procedures for a decapitation strike against the North Korean regime. North Korea is known to have advanced cyber warfare capabilities and is believed to be behind attacks on governments, financial institutions and even film studios worldwide. Most recently, security group FireEye said hackers from Pyongyang were attempting to steal bitcoin from South Korean exchanges as a means of avoiding increasingly punitive international sanctions.
